

Dealing with a day of rough weather, the High School Sailing Teams did a great job managing their way through shifting winds, ever-changing wind velocities and cold, annoying rain squalls. The sailors started the day with the winds out of the north at 8-10kts under partly cloudy skies. Only four races later, 20-25kt winds arrived with heavy rains causing the AP flag to go up sending sailors to the beach. After a brief delay on shore the sailors returned to the race course. When headed back to the race course the winds were out of the east at 15-18kts. Before the Sailors were able to complete their next set of races the winds shifted from the north to the south, died down to 2-3kts and then swung back to the north again with 7-10kts; crazy conditions! Despite the fact that the weather was not sailor friendly, the sailors made the best of the day enjoying friends and huddling inside the Sailing Center's classroom while sharing wild sailing stories about their day at South Points 6 Regatta.
